

SILVER REMAINS FIRM

But Make no Advances From Saturday's Quotation.

SILVER STANDS FIRM AT 72

But the Sales Are Steady and Money Becomes Easier—The Outlook is Encouraging—Another Lunatic Jumps from the Brooklyn Bridge and is Seriously Injured—Kansas Will Likely Get Lower Rates to the Fair—Several More Banks Fail including One at Golden—Secretary Carlisle Makes no More Purchases—Silver Day at the Fair—They do Considerable Down in Oklahoma—The Rain Maker in Demand in Kansas—King George Abdicates the Throne of Greece—News of the World.

STILL AT 72.

Silver Remained Quite Firm Yesterday at this Figure.

New York, July 3—The silver market today was quiet and steady. It was announced that the treasury department would close at noon today, and that no purchases of silver would be made.

Commercial bar silver sold at 72c. and Mexican dollars were nominally 58c.

The London market for bar silver was unchanged at 53 1-2d.

Five hundred and fifty thousand ounces of silver will be shipped abroad tomorrow.

NO SILVER PURCHASES.

Bullion Sellers Notified That the Treasury is Not Buying Now.

Washington, July 3—Secretary Carlisle has decided not to resume the purchase of silver today, and has so notified the principal firms that offer silver to the treasury on purchasing days. This action is unusual, but as the matter of purchasing silver on given days is discretionary with the secretary of the treasury he is simply exercising his right.

The reason assigned in the notice sent to intending offerers is that the treasury department had not yet completed its annual settlement, made at the end of each fiscal year, at the United States mint.

The price paid for silver when the treasury department completed its June purchases was $0.822 per ounce. Since that it has declined to $0.62 per ounce, and is quoted today at $0.73 8-10 per ounce.

OFF BROOKLYN BRIDGE.

Another Crazy Fellow Nearly Loses His Life in Jumping.

New York, July 3—Edward McCarthy aged 21, bartender, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge at 5:30 tonight and sustained injuries that will probably prove fatal. Judging from his last conversation before taking his leap, he said he would imitate Steve Brodie and share in the bridge jumper's notoriety. When taken from the water his side was black from foot to shoulder where he struck the water. McCarthy suffered terribly from hemorrhage for an hour after he was taken out of the water. This is the fourteenth case of jumping from the Brooklyn bridge and the third in two weeks. McCarthy jumped through a greater space than any of his predecessors.

LOWER RATES IN KANSAS.

The Governor is Pushing the Railroad Men to an Agreement.

Topeka, Kan., July 3—Gov. Lewelling is in receipt of letters from representatives of the leading western railroads on the question of lower World's fair rates. All the roads say they favor lower rates. Among the letters was one from Geo. R. Rocks of the Santa Fe who says his road has been from the first ready and willing to make such reductions in World's fair transportation as would enable people of Kansas to attend the World's fair and that the Santa Fe is still in favor of lower rates.

Populists Open the Campaign.

Topeka, Kan., July 3—There will be more celebrations tomorrow than upon any other like occasion in the history of the state. The reason for this is that the Populists all over the state will turn the holiday into a political mass meeting in hundreds of towns and villages. By an agreed plan this year's campaign will be opened tomorrow and every Populist who can make a speech has been slated.

After the Rain Maker.

Topeka, Kan., July 3—Clifton Jewel, Rock Island rain maker left today in a special car for Liberal in Southern Kansas where a drought of months has prevailed. Jewel will go to Chicago in September for operations. World's fair during Kansas week continuously deluged the state from the mountains.

and make it rain every Sunday so that the ungodly can not attend the fair on that day. He was told that that would insure him a crown at the throne of grace

Two Banks Fail.

Larned, Kan., July 3—The Paunce County bank closed Saturday night and the Larned State bank failed to open this morning. Both banks have notes and discounts which are considered good and ample to cover all liabilities. They will soon reopen.

A GOLDEN BANK FAILS.

But it Will Probably Re-Open in a Few Days.

Golden, July 3—The Jefferson County bank in this city made an assignment to Mr. W. A. Dier this morning and the following notice was posted on the bank door:

"This bank is unable to collect its notes and is unable to obtain money upon them in sufficient quantity to pay its depositors upon demand. The directors have, therefore, ordered its doors to be closed, and a general assignment has been made to secure all depositors equally. It is believed that all depositors will be paid in full when values are restored to property and the present unprecedented condition of the money market are passed. W. H. Whitehead, president; Lee Lawson, cashier; July 3, 1893"

All the business men and merchants in town are depositors. It is the general belief here that the move was a wise one and will give the bank an opportunity to pay its depositors in full without calling upon stockholders.

The total liabilities of the bank are placed at $76,538.70, while the assets are $111,380.35. Both the officers are confident that every cent will be paid.

SILVER DAY CONVENTION.

Extensive Arrangements Being Made For it at the Fair.

Chicago, June 3—The Silver day committee appointed by the Transmississippi congress held a meeting today at the office of the Coin, the free coinage silver paper, to perfect arrangements for the program on Silver, which has been set for September 11. Ex-Governor Prince of New Mexico, chairman of the committee, presided. It was decided to have the speeches to be delivered so arranged that when published the whole silver proposition will be presented to the public together with the answer to all objections of free coinage. The details of the arrangements were left to a sub-committee composed of Gov. Prince, O. W. Crawford and W. H. Harvey.

A BIG MASTODON.

Some Massive Remains Discovered in Oklahoma.

Guthrie, Okla., July 3—M. V. Painter of Hennessy recently discovered some mastodon remains in the Gloss mountain, 75 miles west of here which are the most massive bones ever found in the south west. He has brought in and placed on exhibition, two teeth, one of which weighs eight and the other eight and a half pounds. Also portions of a leg bone 10 inches in diameter and a part of an ivory tusk five inches in diameter.

Cattle Men Must Leave.

Guthrie, Okla., July 3—The new detachment of troops brought up from the Rio Grande to patrol the Cherokee strip understand their business and the cattle and cattle men are being driven from the land at last. Heretofore the soldiers would drive out a few boomers and leave the cattle unmolested, but a squadron of the detachment today drove out 2,000 head of cattle north of here and are now rounding up 5,000 or 6,000 head near the Kansas line.

Sells the Bonds.

Guthrie, Okla., July 3—The territorial treasurer has just consummated the sale of $48,000 of territorial bonds at a premium of $630, which is the highest price territorial bonds have ever brought. The Capital National bank of this city was the purchaser and the proceeds of the bonds will be divided equally among the normal school, the university and agricultural college to be used in the construction of new buildings.

Disfigured for Life.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 3—In a fit of jealousy the wife of John Weiler, dashed a cup of nitric acid into his face disfiguring him for life. Mrs. Weiler was suspicious that her husband was more attentive to other women than to herself. She has disappeared.

King George Abdicates.

Athens, Greece, July 3—The king today abdicated the throne of Greece and the country has been declared a republic. The action has created the most intense excitement. It is not believed any trouble will ensue.

Boiled Alive.

Portland, Ore., July 3—The 7-year-old son of S. Daybom, a furniture dealer, while at play fell into a vat of boiling oil. He was quickly pulled out but his flesh was literally cooked. He lingered a few hours in terrible agony and died.

Drowned in the Missouri.

Omaha, July 3—An aeronaut named Reddy Esles was drowned in the Missouri river at this place this afternoon. He intended to descend by a parachute but by some unknown reason could not cut the rope and come down with the balloon in the middle of the river.

Killed His Wife and Himself.

Oskaloosa, Iowa, July 3—Alexander Corey, a man of the town of Carbondale, shot his wife yesterday and with the same weapon killed himself. They were an aged couple being 58 and 63 respectively. Corey left a letter addressed to the public in which he claimed his wife was unfaithful.

At the Fair.

World's Fair Grounds—Paid admissions to the fair today were 103,988.

The Lost Treasure.

Sedalia, Mo., July 3—James Hamilton arrived here tonight from Knobnoster where for 80 days past the search for $1,500,000 in buried treasure has progressed day and night and reports that the enthusiasm that up to last week existed among the residents is fast giving away to despair.

SPOT THESE MEN.

We find the following in the columns of a Chicago paper of recent date:

Chicago, June 26—To the Hon. Grover Cleveland, President of the United States Washington, D. C.; Believing that the Sherman silver bill is one of the most important factors contributing to the present depressed condition of the national finances, it is our earnest request that the matter be discussed at the cabinet meeting next convening. In our opinion the immediate repeal of this law would do more to restore confidence than any one thing, and believing it to be a question of national importance we beseech your favor consideration.

The result was that in a few hours the dispatch was sent on its way over the following signatures:

Montgomery, Ward & Co., Sprague, Warner & Co., John A. Tolman & Co., Reid, Murdock & Co., A Booth Packing Co., Robt Stevenson & Co., Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Co., Peter Van Schaack & Son, S L Bidwell Hardware Co., Geo B Carpenter & Co., W D Allen & Co., James B Clow & Co., Fuller & Fuller Co., Wells & Nellegar Co., Woodruff & Hanchett Co., Edson Keith Co., Chicago Cottage Organ Co., W W Kimball & Co., J S Ford, Johnson & Co., C H Fargo & Co., Selz, Swab & Co., Lyon & Potter Co., A C McClurg & Co., D B Fisk & Co., Western Bank Note & Engraving Co., Bell, Conrad & Co., A G Spaulding & Bros, T V Harvey Lumber Co., The Cudahy Packing Co., M D Wells & Co., Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co., Willoughby, Hill & Co., Pitkin & Brooks Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett Co., C Sidney Shepard & Co.

These men who are stepping outside of their functions as sellers of merchandise and engaging in the labor of hatred and the crusade of ignorance and bigotry. Colorado merchants should remember them and place their orders elsewhere.

No paper tomorrow.

Mrs. Colvin and daughter, Mrs. Campbell, stepped off the evening train from Denver yesterday.

Bob Davis found it very necessary to be in Denver yesterday, but fortunately came back last night.

George Fonda had to go with the rest of the boys and will spend the day fishing over on the St. Vrain.

The boys at H. H. & J's, with their ladies and friends, will take a day's outing at Huggin's park today.

A big fire is destroying large amounts of timber on Sugar Loaf mountain. Some think it adds to the hot weather.

The county commissioners met yesterday and adjourned until tomorrow, as Chairman Thompson could not be present.

C. B. Poor and wife, Geo. Poor, wife and son and Mrs. Jerome Gould all leave today for Steamboat Springs to be gone five or six weeks.

The city council met last evening and after allowing all the bills they adjourned until tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock when the water question will be settled definitely.

Harry Holstein leaves tomorrow for New York city expecting to be gone a couple of months and when he returns Mrs. H. C. Holstein will accompany him.

A large number of Boulder's young men go down to Denver today and take in the Smith-Gallagher contest this afternoon at the Broadway Athletic park.

IT IS A GREAT SUCCESS

The New Granger Dry Ore Process at Ward.

WHAT MR. BLOOMER SAYS

The New Mill Started Yesterday and is Doing Finely—A Double Force of Men Will be Put to Work at Once—The Company is Enthusiastic Over the Results—Elisha Duncan, One of the Old Timers Near Longmont Passes Away Yesterday Morning at His Home—R. B. Potter is Seriously Injured West of Colorado Springs—Rev. Dabney, Formerly of Boulder, Loses an Infant Daughter—Base Ball Announcements.

THE NEW PROCESS.

The Granger Dry Ore Process is a Great Success.

Superintendent William Bloomer came down from Ward yesterday afternoon and will spend the Fourth with his wife. Yesterday morning the new mill of the Hudson Mining company was started and many were the expectations concerning the success of the new Granger Dry Ore process. Mr. Bloomer reports that the results were remarkably successful. The new process is simply immense and that at the first trial yesterday morning over 90 per cent of the precious metals were saved by this method. This is good news and will be welcomed by all who have been watching the development in this process. Mr. Bloomer reports that they will continue to make improvements as the mill is not yet in as good condition as necessary for constant work. He is very enthusiastic over the present outlook and tomorrow will return to the camp to continue work. It is the intention to add a night force and work constantly from now on. This comparatively new company deserves congratulations for the manner in which they are pushing their property to the front. Under the efficient management of Superintendent Bloomer they will doubtless be able to make very good profits under this new method of treating ore.

Elisha Duncan Dead.

Elisha Duncan died yesterday morning at his home east of Longmont about seven o'clock. For several weeks the old gentleman had been sinking slowly. Throat trouble and chest complaint afflicted him sorely. About a month ago his youngest son, Dell Duncan aged 21 died, his death being the first that has occurred in the family. This added much in breaking down the father and toward the close he quietly fell asleep and never awoke again.

He was born in 1823 in Clinton county Illinois near Greenville. In 1849 he went to California with the many gold seekers and in 1858 came to Colorado where he has lived ever since. He was one of the promoters of the first toll road built to Black Hawk and Central city. For the past twenty-six years he has lived at his present home on St. Vrain creek seven miles east of Longmont being engaged in stock raising, ranching and operating mining properties in the mountains. He has always led a happy married life, was a kind husband and father and leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters to mourn his death. The funeral services take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the home east of Longmont. Rev. Van Valkenburg will have charge of the services if well enough to be present.

R. B. Potter Injured.

The Denver Republican yesterday contained the following notice:

"The Cripple Creek stage over Cheyenne mountain had its brakes broken about ten or twelve miles west of town while on its way to Colorado Springs about 1 o'clock today. The horses became unmanageable and ran away, throwing seven of the passengers out as they plunged madly down the hill. The most seriously injured was R. B. Potter of Boulder. His leg was broken and he suffered severe internal injuries."

The accident occurred Sunday and Will Potter left for Denver on his wheel taking a train there for Colorado Springs where Mr. Potter now lies. Word received here yesterday says he is doing nicely and is not dangerously injured.

Free Public Lecture.

J. B. Osborn, state lecturer of the People's party for the state of California, will speak in the district court room, Boulder, on Saturday evening, July 8, at 8 p. m. You will hear something good. Ladies especially invited.

Dr. Dabney's Daughter Dead.

Word was received in Boulder yesterday by Alex Brown bringing the news of the death of the infant child of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Dabney at their home in Lexington, Kentucky, June 20th. Many people in Boulder will well remember Dr. Dabney who was for a time pastor of the Christian church and later a practicing physician in the city. The reason of his leaving Boulder was on account of the sickness of his daughter Emilie. Dr. Dabney and wife made many warm acquaintances here who will deeply sympathize with them in their severe loss.

Base Ball.

This morning there will be a game of base ball at Erie between Louisville and Erie. Ingram will pitch for Louisville. This afternoon the ball game will be between Louisville and Boulder on the Louisville grounds. Ingram will then pitch for Boulder. Next Sunday our boys will go up to Jimtown and play with that famous nine. A fine game may be expected.

Last Sunday the game between Ward and Jimtown was indefinitely postponed.

A Curiosity.

Judge Wright has in his yard a curiosity in the shape of a white rose. The stem of the rose has on it a flowering blossom and then the stem grew right on through and another full rose is on top making a complete double rose of delicious fragrance. The judge says that the rose is usually but an ordinary white rose but some five or six years ago had blossoms similar to these this year. It certainly is one of the most peculiar formations ever grown in the rose family and will well repay a visit.

Fire at the Potter Mine.

During the present financial scare the men at the Potter mine at Sugar Loaf had nearly all been laid off for a few days and only the foreman, L. C. Nace and Johnny Bryant were left in charge who kept the mine in repair. Yesterday Foreman Nace came to town leaving the mine at 11 o'clock with Bryant who was hoisting water. He left about noon for his dinner leaving no one about the mine. Shortly after leaving fire broke out in the east end of the shaft house, the engine is in the west end and the fire therein had been closed down. The fire soon destroyed everything including house, tools, machinery, etc. Bryant came back and fought the fire all the afternoon. The loss to the Potter mine will be at least $2,000. No sooner had the shaft house burned when the brush and trees about caught the blaze and with a terrific wind blowing for some three hours soon had over a mile of thickly timbered district totally destroyed and also several other shaft houses. The Livingstone property caught fire several times but was saved by timely work. The origin of the fire is doubtful and many suppose the fire to be that of incendiaries. The big smoke west of town is the result of the fires. Foreman Nace will go up to the mine this morning with several men and at once begin the work of rebuilding.

The Silver Dollar is Way Up.

Boulder, Colo., July 3, '72.

Ed. Camera—For some unaccountable reason, the author of "Uncle Cy and Polly" in Sunday's Camera, lost the most interesting part of his manuscript which contained a very animated discussion on the silver question. Uncle Cy contending that the Silver Dollar was way down and niece Polly was most emphatic in the assertion that it was "way up" on Pearl street, No. 1110, and that she could prove it, by Bob Coulehan" for while Uncle Cy and dear Charley had dropped in to Jos. Hafner's she had taken a "skip" up to the restaurant, eaten a piece or two of their famous strawberry short cake and washed it down with a cold drink of Yumbow, gave a due bill on Uncle Cy and said, "I am coming up again tomorrow. (after church)."

Rev. R. A. Chase now has his study in working order in the M. E. church and can almost always be found there of a morning. He went to Denver yesterday but returned last evening.

Mrs. Louis Koehler and daughter, Mrs. Clint Fonda left on the afternoon train yesterday for Kansas, being called by a telegram announcing the serious illness of Mrs. Koehler's father. Miss Emma Koehler accompanied them as far as Denver.

Chief Bob May and Charley Bromley will today go down to Colorado Springs and Manitou, where the State Firemen's tournament will be held the rest of the week. They will return tomorrow. While down there the boys will work hard to have next year's tournament in Boulder, lasting a full week.

"What are the water hours?" has been asked by many and a statement would certainly be welcome. There is no ordinance requiring the hours of water to be confined from four to six both morning and evening. Such a plan was ordered by a past meeting of the council but has never been officially passed that the old ordinance of from four to eight both morning evening prevail. Don't be afraid to use water under the old plan and to continue to use it until official notice and orders over the city announce an order to the contrary.

The Daily Camera receives a condensed, and is entitled, to and pays for the full report of the United Press. It aspires to give in brief all the news transmitted by this great agency, and no pains are spared to render its local columns a complete epitome of each days transactions in the business and social life of Boulder and Boulder county. The Weekly Tribune is the largest home print paper of its kind in Northern Colorado, and its several departments are so arranged as to give to the reader lacking facilities of the daily press, a summary of the news of the week preceding its issue. The Daily Camera and the Boulder Tribune lead all contemporaries, outside of Denver, in the advocacy of free coinage and those measures of reform which are at once just and in the interest of the masses, and especially the demand of the west. As advertising mediums, they lead all competitors very largely in point of circulation.

Silver 66.

THE WEATHER.

For Tuesday—Fair, westerly winds, slightly cooler.

The new marriage law went into effect yesterday. Under this law the applicant has to swear that he is over 21 years of age and that the prospective bride is over 18. He has to state whether or not either party has been married; if so, is the former matrimonial partner deceased or divorced, when, where and on what grounds. No one is allowed to marry if divorced unless divorced for at least a year. Yesterday the county clerk was obliged to refuse a license to a party who had only been divorced about three months and who wanted to get married a second time and on short notice. His prospective bride will likely go back on him if compelled to wait a year.

Judge Wright will tomorrow make the official appointments for the new advisory commission as prescribed by the law. This board will act as a jury in all cases of correction and punishment of children who might be sentenced to the reform school. The board will consist of Mrs. S. N. North, Mrs. Ben Williams, Mrs. Frank Weisenhorn, and Guy Adams, Rev. Kramer and Dr. Queal. The board must consist of at least three ladies and all the members are to be on hand at every summons from the judge. Such cases as are considered by this new law are taken from the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace and placed in the hands of the county court. The plan is certainly a good one and the advisory board selected is one of the best that could be obtained in the city. Two members of the board will retire every year and two new appointments be made accordingly.

A petition was circulated yesterday afternoon and evening among the business men of the city requesting that an early closing hour be adopted. It is a regret that the petition was not a success. But two or three firms in the entire town refused to accord in this matter and these firms were of such a character that unless their consent could be obtained the plan would fall through. All the firms in the city but one or two are willing to close at six o'clock, or even seven o'clock. It would seem that common decency would cause all the stores to fall in with the idea and let the matter be settled satisfactorily. It was through the work of the clerks that the petition was circulated and for their benefit an early closing hour should be adopted. Should firms again fail to keep their contract it would be a very easy matter to go back to the present method but from the sentiment which is everywhere being expressed the plan now adopted would certainly be maintained with honesty by all.

The average newspaper publisher considers the "card of thanks" custom a nuisance that ought to be abated but he is how to do it without giving offense. An exchange publishes the following interesting references on the subject. "It is a custom which is a card of thanks when a man dies who has been no earthly good to the world, his family or himself. Then if the people turn out and give him a decent burial they ought to be publicly thanked for it. Otherwise it is meaningless. A public card of thanks is the most saving manner of expressing gratitude we know. It looks like a cheap way of shrinking duty. It is on the same principle that the lazy Christian adopted who wrote his prayer of thanksgiving to the Lord and placed it under his pillow and told the Lord where to find it. This style of expressing one's thanks in a job lot is indeed shabby. If a friend has done a favor which calls for an expression of appreciation, the only way to express it is to those friends personally and tell them your gratitude or else send them a note. Thanks can always be expressed at the close of the funeral services for the family by the minister. The people who have been of any help are always there. The newspaper does not always reach them."

Fire Works in every variety at the Clark & Dana Book and Stationery store

Col. Wesley Brainard and wife arrived from Chicago yesterday on the noon train. They will today go up to Camp Talcott and remain all summer. The colonel is well pleased with reports from his camp and will push the work right along.

A Naturalist's Fleas.
 An English naturalist, who is remarkably absent-minded, recently celebrated his silver wedding. Just as the first guest arrived, one of the daughters was sent to summon the father, who was all ready and came into the parlor. The daughter noticed that her father carried in his hand a small wooden box, and as he shook hands with the nearest guest she saw him drop it. The cover rolled off, but she gave a sigh of relief when she saw that the box was apparently empty. The naturalist, however, uttered a cry of dismay and instantly went down on his hands and knees in an attempt to gather up something. "Have you spilled anything, father?" the daughter asked. "Spilled anything?" he echoed, in evident indignation at her calm tone. "I have lost fifty fleas that I have just received from Egypt!" The effect of this intelligence on the family was nothing in comparison to the effect the catastrophe had upon the company before the evening was over.—Golden Days.

COMPETITION AVOIDED.
 Shops in France Not Allowed to Crowd Each Other.

In France two shops selling the same thing are not allowed to exist within a certain area. In provisions this absence of competition materially increases the price, but, says a woman who has large experience in housekeeping in France, your taxes are less, and you have in return clean streets, good gas, constant water supply and perfect sewerage. In addition, by virtue of state supervision, you never receive short weight or inferior goods. There is no quantity so small that the grocer will not sell it. And in doing this and in delivering it he is as scrupulously polite and careful as in buying larger amounts. The butcher is the cook's friend and will trim the meat and take out the bones with loving care. Meat is dear. Good beefsteak costs from thirty-seven cents to fifty cents a pound. Fish is very expensive, but poultry is reasonable and good and comparatively cheap. A good deal of cooking in small households is done with gas, and gas stoves are loaned by the gas companies for this purpose. Sugar, matches and all imported articles are dear, owing to the high tariff. The lowest price for servants is ten dollars a month. Charwomen ask six cents by the hour. Englishwomen say that life on the continent is much more agreeable for Americans than for themselves, owing to the fact that in each consular town the consul and his family make a nucleus for a colony, which soon gathers about them.

SEA fowls' eggs have one remarkable peculiarity, they are nearly conical in form, broad at the base and sharp at the point, so that they will only roll in a circle. They are laid on the bare edges of high rocks, from which they would almost surely roll off save for this happy provision of nature.—Denver Great Divide.

A DRUMMER'S STORY.

He Tells Why He Gave Up His Chosen Vocation.

I am a commercial traveler; that is, I was once. Circumstances over which I had no control prompted me to seek another method of livelihood; this, combined with my wife's wishes, which of course I am bound to respect, as every married man ought where it doesn't conflict too much with his own natural desires and sentiments.

I don't know as I can blame her for thus desiring a change in my then occupation, as few women would like to be tied for life to a raving maniac, or one who possessed physical peculiarities in the shape of hair which is bound to stand on end like "quills upon the fretful porcupine." And either of these results would have been obtained, I'm sure, had I ever run the risk of passing through a similar experience to the one I am about to relate. It was quite a number of years ago that the incidents I am about to relate happened, yet so vividly were the facts impressed upon my mind that it seems but yesterday.

The firm with whom I was employed, in one of the large eastern cities, desired me to make a change and travel in a western circuit, drumming up trade as I went along. A wild, lawless element at that time prevailed in the west, and it was almost as much as a man's life was worth to go there under respectable pretenses, unless well equipped with firearms.

My wife tried to prevail upon me not to go, but that was one of the instances where my own natural inclinations led me to disrespect her wishes, as she has often since informed me.

But I would not confess to being chicken-hearted, so making careful preparations, and kissing my wife a fond good-by, I soon found myself en route.

The journey was without special incident. I enjoyed the trip immensely, the scenery being entirely strange and everything altogether novel. Stopping at a few minor towns during the latter part of my trip, I eventually found myself in the vicinity of Leadville. Having heard so much about the peculiar lawlessness of this town, I determined to take a bird's-eye view of it, even if I did not transact any business.

I did not believe the element predominating there would be especially interested in eastern dry goods, but I was bound to see the town at any cost, if only to convince my wife that I was not a man easily trifled with, or afraid of any danger.

To give a description of the place and its inhabitants during my brief ride through it until I reached the hotel I was destined to stop at would be impossible; it surpassed my wildest expectations.

The driver of my conveyance landed me at various hotels, which were too full for another occupant, until I saw the hour was drawing near midnight, and determined to make a halt somewhere. At last the driver drew up before a dilapidated looking tavern signed the "Golden Eagle."

After a brief survey of the exterior I sent the driver in to investigate the interior; he soon returned, followed by a heavy thickset man with a gleam of latent humor in his eye, who said he was sorry, but the house was full. Noticing my disappointment, he finally asked: "Have you any objections to a bed-fellow?"

"If there is no help for it I suppose I must," I replied, "though far from agreeable." Mentally I heaped anathemas on myself for my reckless venture.

"Your bedfellow is a quiet fellow, when he is asleep, although I must say he is rather violent when annoyed. He sleeps very soundly, and all you have to do is to be careful not to wake him. He has been in bed some time."

Now I might as well make a confession. I am not a brave man, humiliating as it is to say it. My wife knows this. I have often tried to convince myself that I am, but truth compels me to say I am an awful coward.

The landlord's description of my bedfellow was anything but assuring, and I was on the point of declining, when the landlord, evidently reading what was transpiring in my mind, exclaimed: "You are afraid, are you?"

"Afraid? I should think not, indeed," I returned, for I was too much of a coward to brave being thought one. "I accept your offer of half a bed. Bring me some brandy and water and a cigar."

I sat down at one of the little tables in the barroom and puffed away at my cigar. I tried to persuade myself that I was very jolly; it was a feeble attempt, however.

The landlord finally made his appearance, and with the aid of a tallow candle escorted me up a narrow, rickety old staircase. The room he ushered me into was comparatively clean, but low ceilinged with poor furniture.

He placed his hand between the candle and the bed as if to shield the occupant from the light; setting it down upon an old stand he said, or whispered:

"Be sure and don't take the light near him; nothing wakes him sooner than that. You see I don't know how he might like my putting another man with him, and he's a very ugly customer when he is riled."

This was very reassuring. "I shall be very careful," I replied.

"All right. Good night."

He had no sooner left the room than I cautiously sat down, taking care not to make the least noise. I calmly surveyed my position. According to the landlord, my companion was of anything but an amiable disposition. If I should chance to awaken him I knew not what might occur. He might assault me dangerously before I could explain. I half resolved to pass the night in a chair, but it was such a high-backed altogether uncomfortable chair, that I soon got discouraged.

I glanced toward the bed. One consolation, my companion seemed to be in a deep sleep, for he did not even

One Thousand Gallons of Ice Cream For City.

The World's Fair is furnished with one thousand gallons of ice cream each day. We have a capacity of two hundred gallons per day for Boulder and vicinity, and already orders have been placed to near the extent of our capacity for the Fourth. If you want ice cream for the Fourth, place your order by the 1st of July to make sure of getting supplied as we have got to place our orders with the Jersey dairy by that time for sweet cream. Society's picnics and Fourth's demonstrations will be given special prices for all orders of five gallons or more. We have the best facilities in Boulder for making cream and use none but the best and purest materials for our goods. As we make by steam power we can make better cream and give better terms for wholesale lots than any other firm in the country. Our factory is open for inspection to our patrons. Orders by mail or telephone will receive prompt attention.

Only the Scars Remain.

"Among the many testimonials which I see in regard to certain medicines performing cures, cleansing the blood, etc.," writes HENRY HENSON, of the James Smith Woolen Machinery Co., Philadelphia, Pa., "none impress me more than my own case. Twenty years ago, at the age of 18 years, I had swellings come on my legs, which broke and became running sores. Our family physician could do me no good, and it was feared that the bones would be affected. At last, my good old mother urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took three bottles, the sores healed, and I have not been troubled since. Only the scars remain, and the memory of the past, to remind me of the good Ayer's Sarsaparilla has done me. I now weigh two hundred and twenty pounds, and am in the best of health. I have been on the road for the past twelve years, have noticed Ayer's Sarsaparilla advertised in all parts of the United States, and always take pleasure in telling what good it did for me."

For the cure of all diseases originating in impure blood, the best remedy is AYER'S Sarsaparilla Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
