TATIANNA FEENSTRA

Anchorage resident Tatianna Feenstra, 64, died July 29, 1999, at Alaska Native Medical Center.

Feenstra

A service will be at 3 p.m. today at Evergreen Chapel. The Rev. Peter Curtis will officiate. A visitation will precede the service at 2 p.m. Pallbearers will be Robert and Ben Feenstra, Steve Stewart, Richard Guldbra, Victor Oustigoff, Vlass and George Shabolin. A second service will take place at St. Peter & Paul Orthodox Church on St. Paul Island.

Mrs. Feenstra was born Feb. 18, 1935, on St. Paul Island. She attended school there.

She was a nurse. She moved to Tacoma, Wash., in 1950, to Juneau in 1975 and to Anchorage in 1980.

She was a member of the Russian Orthodox Church and of St. Innocent Orthodox Cathedral's Sisterhood.

Her family recalled: "Tatianna trained as a nurse when she was a young woman, which ended up being one of the most important things in her life. Because of her love of nursing, caring for the sick was something that made her very happy. She loved her grandchildren with all her heart, and family gatherings were a very special part of her life.

"Tatianna had a mother's smile that will not be forgotten. She always had a smile for everyone. She reached out to others with her kind and generous heart. The joy and happiness that she spread by just being her will be dearly missed by all who knew and loved her."

Mrs. Feenstra is survived by her brothers and sisters, Vlass Shabolin Sr. and Fekla Hapoff of St. Paul., Manefa Bartley and Victor Oustigoff of Anchorage; sons, Richard Guldbra, Steve Stewart and Daniel Pohl of Anchorage, Mark Woodhead of Portland, Ore., Ben Feenstra of St. Paul, and Robert Feenstra of Juneau; daughter, Sherry Presley of Portland; 17 grandchildren; and her stepmother, stepsister and stepbrother, Julia Kashavaroff, Anna Owens and Andy Kashavaroff, all of St. Paul.
